BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom. — Ps. 145:13.

Silly tyrants have boasted that their empires would last a thousand years. That would not have been an everlasting kingdom. Every state that planned world conquest has crumbled in ashes and shame. All save one, and there people are hungry and in deadly fear. It is better to let God have a monopoly of world empire.

"I'm Working on a Big Construction Job, Mister!"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
Democrats Bar Courteous Averell Harriman From Secret Meeting; Chairman Mitchell Is Both Endorsed and Reproved On Jimmy Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON. — The Democratic National committee met in super-duper secrecy last week to debate the dynamite-laden question of whether Chairman Steve Mitchell was right or wrong in straight-arming Jimmy Roosevelt in his race for Congress.

The meeting was so secret that even Averell Harriman, once a leading candidate for president on the Democratic ticket, was barred. No one was admitted unless he was a bona-fide member of the Democratic National committee, or held a proxy representing a bona fide member.

Mr. Harriman, who was Roosevelt's ambassador to Great Britain and Russia, also secretary of commerce under Truman, and who may run for governor of New York, arrived at the meeting with the proxy of Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany. Mr. De Sapio was detained in New York, and since he is a Democratic national committeeman, his proxy gave Harriman the right to attend the secret meeting.

But a few minutes later things got complicated when Mrs. Angela Paresi, another distinguished Democrat from New York, arrived—also holding the proxy of Carmine De Sapio.

Obviously De Sapio could not be represented by both Harriman and Mrs. Paresi. The embarrassment was solved, however, by giving Mrs. Paresi the proxy of Mrs. William Good, Democratic national committeewoman from Brooklyn.

Just as this was arranged, however, Mrs. Good herself walked in the door.

This left Mrs. Paresi out in the cold with no proxy at all. So Averell, always the perfect gentleman, gave her his De Sapio proxy and departed.

ROOSEVELT VS. MITCHELL

After that, the highly secret conference was supposed to get down to the business for which it was called—whether Chairman Mitchell had done wrong by Jimmy Roosevelt.

But there was first a semi-filibuster in the form of how the Texas national committeeman's seat should be filled—a vacancy created by the "excommunication" of Wright Morrow, onetime Democrat who bolted to Eisenhower. Some felt that Byron Skelton, who had helped to raise so much Democratic money in Texas, should replace Morrow. But the matter was left to be decided in the Texas Democratic convention next September.

After this, Mrs. Ione Hunt, Democratic National committeewoman from Minnesota, raised the question of chairman Mitchell's unauthorized boycott of Jimmy Roosevelt. Edgar Brown immediately read a long and flowery resolution, carefully typed in advance, paying tribute to Mitchell and giving him a vote of confidence.

Then rose Monroe Sweetland of Oregon, the rebellious Democrat who the day before had demanded a showdown vote on Mitchell's California action. Sweetland and perhaps a majority of the committee were opposed to Mitchell in the Roosevelt matter; but for the sake of unity, he said:

"I second Mr. Brown's motion. Shall I speak on it now or later, Mr. Chairman?"
"Now," replied chairman Mitchell.
"This is all water over the dam," continued Sweetland. "There's nothing we can do to change the action taken by the chairman. And maybe it's our own fault for not instructing him in these matters. We've sometimes faced the same problem he faced, of objecting to a certain candidate. But I think it's important that, when the voters pick a candidate, no party official has the power to overrule them.

"My only point, therefore," concluded Sweetland, "is that this should not happen again."

The applause that followed made it clear that the majority of Democrats were with Roosevelt rather than Mitchell, even though the resolution supporting Mitchell was passed unanimously.

These are the highlights of the Democrats' secret session.

Note — Chairman Mitchell has grown in stature and popularity with most Democratic leaders. However, he insists he will retire after the elections next fall. Best guess is he will run for Congress or mayor of Chicago.

Reds Praise Heroism of French POWs

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The Communists' radio announced today the 8,000 French Union troops captured at Dien Bien Phu were receiving careful treatment because of their "unprecedented heroism" in defending the fortress.

There still was no word, however, on the fate of Dien Bien Phu's only woman, gallant nurse Genevieve de Galarde-Terraube.

Viet Minh Radio, in a broadcast monitored in Hanoi, heaped praise on defenders of the fallen garrison.

The Communist broadcast said Dien Bien Phu's soldiers "fought with unprecedented determination and heroism" and lost their valiant battle only under the weight of superior numbers.

French air force and naval fliers also received praise from the enemy for stubborn support of the garrison despite murderous anti-aircraft fire from Communist forces.

Step Up Sabotage
The broadcast said French medics were caring for Dien Bien Phu's wounded and that prisoners who escaped injury were being "well treated."

Though the Red announcement was certain to comfort relatives of the prisoners, the Communists were showing no mercy elsewhere in Indochina.

Rebel guerrillas stepped up their sabotage operations in the vital Red River delta while Communist regular troops occupied a post near Hanoi which the French had to abandon under fire.

The guerrillas were reported infiltrating the area along the 58-mile supply lifeline between this inland city and the port of Haiphong, reception point for American military equipment and supplies.

Rescue Jet Pilot From Lake Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — Air Force 2nd Lt. Ted Miller, 23, of Venice, Calif., was rescued early today after parachuting into Lake Michigan when a "small explosion" rocked his F86 Sabre jet.

A Coast Guard sea-aircraft searching party spotted Miller in his inflated rubber life boat three hours after he bailed out of the jet, 11 miles off Kenosha, Wis. Miller is attached to the 142nd Fighter-Interceptor Wing at O'Hare Field here, and was on a routine training flight.

Miller suffered a cut on the back of his head and abrasions on the face from the impact of "ejecting" himself out of the jet. He bailed out at 37,000 feet.

The Air Force said it is believed the jet landed in Lake Michigan.

To this union was born eight children, Vernon and Emmitt of Harrisburg, Leo and Leslie Earl of Oliver, Ind., Fern, Marvin Dale, and Mrs. Flo Parker of Evansville, Ind. One son, Clifford, preceded him in death, April 4, 1952. He also leaves three daughters-in-law, Marjorie, Lois, Marie; seven grandsons, two granddaughters, four sisters, Mrs. Lucile Rose, Freeport, Ill., Mrs. Mollie Clark, Long Beach, Calif., Mrs. Amy Gee, Carrier Mills, Ill., and Mrs. Blanche Oldcraft, Saskatchewan, Canada; one brother, Luther Buchanan, Eddyville, in addition to a host of relatives and friends. He was converted in later life and baptized in the Ohio river and united with the Mt. Pleasant church where he was ordained as a Deacon.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark—
And may there be no sadness of Farewell
When I embark.

For, though from out our bourne of time and place,
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the Bar.

We especially thank the ministers, the quartette, pallbearers, and flower girls and those who sent flowers.

Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow, the loss of our wife and mother; for the beautiful service, floral offerings and other kindnesses, and especially the Rev. Elmer Grisham and Rev. Cozart and the nurses of Ferrer hospital. We are deeply grateful.

Molotov Hits UN Role in Korea Future

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Geneva conference today the United Nations is unfit to play a role in settling the future of Korea.

In a two-hour speech to the Geneva conference, Molotov charged that the United Nations has "deprived itself of the capacity to act as an impartial international body."

He said it "can no longer carry out objective functions in the settlement of the Korean problem."

Molotov's unusually severe attack on the United Nations threw a new chill over the faint hopes remaining that a formula for Korean unification might be worked out here.

A glimmer of hope had been raised earlier by South Korea's acceptance of the Soviet proposal for nation-wide elections. Previously South Korea had insisted that free and democratic elections already had been held in South Korea and were needed now only in the Communist north.

South Korea's Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai, in a speech to the conference, challenged the Red regime of North Korea to join in balloting May 20, under United Nations supervision.

Molotov pounced upon the proposed U. N. role in the settlement proposal.

He bitterly attacked the United States for proposing a collective security alliance for Southeast Asia and accused the United States of openly plotting an attack against Red China with the help of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Molotov's attack made it clear the Communist bloc will never agree to the Western demand that the unification of Korea be carried out in accordance with U. S. principles and resolutions.

The West has demanded free elections under U. N. supervision as one of the pre-conditions for unification.

Eldorado Woman is Arrested After Auto Hits Mail Truck

Alberta Hart of Eldorado today was charged with driving under the influence of liquor, reckless driving and driving without an operator's license following a crash yesterday afternoon.

She was arrested by State Policeman Michael Taggart after her auto hit the rear of a mail truck driven by Royal B. Oliver on Route 142 a short distance south of Eldorado. Both vehicles were traveling toward Eldorado.

Senate Approves Amendment to Limit Justices to Nine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today approved a proposed constitutional amendment to limit the Supreme Court to nine justices and force their retirement at age 75.

The amendment was approved overwhelmingly after a controversial provision was dropped. This would have specified that no Supreme Court justice could become President or vice president for five years after leaving the Supreme Court.

The rest of the amendment was approved by a roll call vote of 58-19.

Warehouse Foreman is Killed at Paris

PARIS, Ill. (AP)—John L. Harpring, 52, Paris, a warehouse foreman, was killed instantly Monday when a 1,000 pound tobacco hog's-head fell on him.

Harpring was unloading hog's-heads from a freight car at the Liggett and Myers tobacco barns. Edgar County Coroner Harlan Owen held an inquest Monday night, and the coroner's jury found the hog's-head which killed Harpring rolled from a second tier in the freight car.

Reuther Urges Labor to Vote In Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—CIO President Walter Reuther said today the best remedy for the nation's unemployment problem would be to "make about three dozen reactionary politicians unemployed" in next November's congressional elections.

Reuther urged some 300 delegates to a special CIO unemployment conference to go home and "mobilize the full political potential" of labor unions to vote in the election.

"Our basic problem flows from the fact that the little men of big business are in power," he said. "As long as they remain in power, the people are in trouble."

Reuther said the Eisenhower administration has resorted to "name-calling, abuse, pious slogans and a do-nothing policy" in the face of an economic situation which he said is "getting worse, not better."

Referring to the Army-McCarthy hearings as an "ugly, disgusting and immoral spectacle," Reuther said the nation's leadership should "take the headlines and radio and television away from Low-Blow Joe and put them on the basic problems facing the American people."

Earlier Reuther had suggested in a TV broadcast that the government call a labor-management conference to discuss unemployment.

He said a recent government report, indicating that unemployment dropped about 260,000 from mid-March to mid-April, was no reason for optimism about the economic situation because the pick-up in jobs was confined to "highly seasonal industries" that customarily do extra hiring in the spring.

He said unemployment in basic manufacturing industries is still "increasing" and estimated that a total of five million workers are now out of jobs. This figure is much higher than the official government figures for mid-April, 3,425,000.

Music Boosters Honor High School Music Dept's Graduates with Dinner

The annual potluck banquet honoring the graduating seniors of the Carrier Mills Community high school music department was held Thursday, May 6, at the high school. The Music Boosters club sponsored the event.

Invocation was by Loren Dallas. Seventy-five students, parents and members of the club were in attendance to enjoy the bountiful dinner which was served cafeteria style. Blooming potted plants decorated the tables. Mrs. Bill Henson and Mrs. Harold Berns made coffee.

This was the final meeting of the Music Boosters organization for the year. During the business session, James Thornton, retiring president, held an election of officers for the 1954-55 calendar year. Results were: President, Oather Dunaway; vice president, Mrs. Harold Berns; secretary, James Reed, and treasurer, Mrs. Bill Henson.

Musical entertainment for the event was by the Rainbow Valley Boys, namely George McCutcheon, Eldon Rice, Delmar Wilkins, Bill Martin and Bob Martin. The group played a variety of instrumental numbers with Eldon Rice, Delmar Wilkins and Bob Martin singing the solo parts. As an added feature two little girls, Donna McCutcheon and Janice Lee Dunaway sang "Bimbo." They were dressed in western regalia.

During intermission, Mrs. Nancy Steely, high school music director, gave recognition to the following graduating members of the music department:

Randolph County Indian Site Believed 11,000 Years Old

has been fixed at 3,697 B. C., "plus or minus" 650 years. This would make the site 11,000 years old and a contemporary of the Folsom period of southwestern United States. Earlier, it had been believed the Randolph County site was "only" 7,000 years old. The site is at the base of an 82-foot bluff near the Mississippi River, near Modoc. Highway crews taking dirt to fill roadbeds in the area discovered it several years ago.

Fire Destroys Old Building at Shawneetown

from the river over the levee to the building.

Several hundred spectators lined the west side of Old Shawneetown's main thoroughfare and adjacent lots to witness the fire.

Fortunately, the building has vacant lots to each side and to the rear, hence no other dwellings were endangered.

Fixtures Line Sidewalk

Early volunteers on the scene packed numerous things from the tavern, including the bar, bar stool, juke box, piano, beer cases and many other items. These fixtures lined the sidewalks and lots on the east side of the street.

Persons who resided in apartments above the tavern and whose personal belongings were entirely destroyed were Mrs. Nora Reynolds, an employee at the tavern, Mrs. Rhea Kirk, operator of the Old Shawneetown hardware store, and Rennie Shepard.

Mr. Logsdon was in Evansville yesterday afternoon and did not arrive on the scene until after 5 p. m. His wife, however, was one of the many persons witnessing the spectacle.

Built By Early Settler

The structure is believed to have been built by Michael Jones, an early settler of the community and one time state senator in early Illinois. Jones, it is thought, had the building constructed for his son John P. Jones, an early settler of the Shawneetown community. Exact date of the construction is not known but is believed to have been some 125 years ago. At that time the building was looked upon as one of the finest in the entire state.

The property later came into the possession of Aaron Mayer, who operated a store there for several years. Late, early in the 1900's, the building was purchased by the Logsdons and is presently owned by Robert Logsdon.

Until he developed the idea of the mold, with hot metal forced against it, there had been various attempts at assembling type mechanically, but the machines used the actual type, and proved too cumbersome for the intricate mechanism required.

GLOOM DEPT. "How high will coffee go?" asks the Kiplinger magazine, Changing Times, then answers: "No one can say with any certainty. The prospects are that prices will level off somewhere between $1.25 and $1.50 a pound—but closer to $1.50 than to $1.25."

NOT SO GLOOMY. Same periodical predicts railroads will make a big play for the tourist by offering family-rate plans, economy excursions, low-priced meals, better service. Big Four, too?

And we might get to see Chuck Hunsinger in action this fall after all. Back when he was a half-back with the Chicago Bears professional football team he was seen quite often here. Last year he played with Montreal in the Canadian league and wasn't seen at all over TV. Now the National Broadcasting Co. announces it will televise Canadian football games involving four cities, Montreal included, on Saturday afternoons.

Mahomet Seniors Aid Teacher With $800 Saved for Trip

MAHOMET, Ill.—Seniors at Mahomet high school saved $800 for a vacation trip but found a better way to spend it.

The 25 seniors Monday called off the six-day trip they had planned to make to the Ozarks late this month. Instead, they voted to give the money to Mrs. C. S. Sifferd, a teacher and class co-sponsor whose home and belongings were destroyed by fire Friday.

BETWEEN YOU'N' ME

A CHANCE letter (are you listening, Charlie Dressen?) kept red-hot rapper Rudy Regalado from spending the summer in Indianapolis instead of Cleveland. He wrote to the Tribune front office last winter asking to report early to the Tucson, Ariz., base instead of the minor league camp at Daytona Beach. Only because Tucson is closer to his southern California home.

Regalado confessed to us he's been chased by major league scouts since he was 11 years old and once played with the Yankee Juniors around Los Angeles home.

Col. Earl Blaik of Army, after dining recently at the White House, eagerly took his football aides out on the West Point golf course and, with a patronizing air, waved, "You fellows tee off first. I've been consulting with 'that pro' in Washington and have this thing licked."

So, after watching the others slam 225-yarders down the fairway, the colonel teed up, jiggled his hips, waved his driver menacingly — and completely missed the ball. Said line coach Carney Lasie, "That's what you get for listening to that 'White House pro'."

After spring drills, Blaik rated quarterback Pete Vann "the second best passer I've had in 10 years, and I won't name the other one." Could he mean his own boy, Bobby?

The chief rag against a famous defensive catcher is not his low batting average, but the fact he never gets his sparsely spaced blows with men on base. There's a growing suspicion that one of the greatest sluggers no longer can get around quickly enough on fast balls to pull them over fences.

As much of a hindrance to Mickey Mantle's left-handed batting as his bad knee is his blind spot across the letters ... and his sulkingness on the subject ...

A combative situation is developing on one of pro football's great teams over the whiplash tactics of one of the assistant coaches. And it's shown up in the threatened secession to Canadian football by one of the game's great offensive linemen ... Notre Dame expects Don Schaefer, moved from quarterback to halfback, to surpass Johnny Lattner's All-America talents next fall.

The reason the National AAU track meet was brought to St. Lou is this June was the persuasive,ness of Bill Bangert, the erstwhile singing shotputter — persuasive in that he got Cardinal owner Gus Busch to put up $15,000 for the affair.

Ransom Jackson, hitting in the batosphere this spring, never was under 400 in college ... and four years ago Frankie Frisch called him "another Rogers Hornsby." ... The gabbiest infielder in baseball is Al Rosen. ... Publicist Arthur (Red) Patterson's willing to lay even money the Yanks are in first by July 4. ... Branch Rickey's favorite reading matter (honest) is the dictionary.

Tommy Henrich, who left a NY telecasting career to exec a Cincy brewery, had a sure cure for slumps ... He'd relax at Eddie Condon's jazzorium in the Village by pounding the piano with the ensemble.

Why should golfers openly bet on themselves, as Art Wall did at the Las Vegas Open (and won 250 at 25-1), when it's verboten for ball-players—foot, basket or base? ... More double chins prevail among golfers than any other athletes, except wrestlers.

Between you'n'me, Casey Stengel's double-talk is simply a series of points-of-order strung together.

Saucier Granted Voluntary Retirement

BALTIMORE — Frank Saucier, who had big dreams of major league stardom as a rookie for the St. Louis Browns, came to the end of the baseball trail today when he granted his voluntary retirement.

The 26-year-old outfielder and catcher from Leslie, Mo., recently returned from military service but after conferring with General Manager Art Ehlers of the Baltimore Orioles, who inherited rights to him, he decided to call it quits.

He had a phenomenal minor league batting mark of .446 with Wichita Falls, Tex., in the Big State League in 1949, and in 1950 with San Antonio of the Texas League, he was named minor league player of the year with a .343 bat mark.

Eire remained neutral in World War II.

Frank Thomas, Former Alabama Grid Coach, Dies

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — Frank Thomas, who learned his football from Knute Rockne and taught it to Don Hutson, died Monday night in this small University of Alabama campus town where he wrote one of football's greatest coaching stories.

The 55-year-old Notre Dame quarterback had been ill since January, 1947, when he retired as the Crimson Tide's head football coach and became athletic director. He retired from that post in 1952.

From 1931, when Thomas succeeded Wallace Wade as coach, until 1947, the Tide won 115 games, lost 24 and tied 7 while going to bowl games six times.

His record of four straight major bowl appearances never was equalled and his coaching record won him entry into the Helms Football Hall of Fame and the National Football Hall of Fame.

Four Unbeaten Squads

Hutson, the pass-catching wizard who dominated both college and professional football, was Thomas' greatest star. Together with quarterback Dixie Howell, they staged one of football's immortal duels with Stanford's Bobby Grayson in the 1935 Rose Bowl game and led Alabama to a 29-13 win over the Pacific Coast "wow-boys."

Thomas had four unbeaten squads at Alabama. A native of East Chicago, Ind., he spent his entire coaching career in the South, coaching at Georgia and Chattanooga before coming to Alabama.

Beside the Stanford game, Thomas' bowl record included a 29-21 win over Texas A and M in the Cotton Bowl in 1942, a 37-21 win over Boston College in the Orange Bowl in 1943, a 26-29 loss to Duke in the Sugar Bowl in 1945, a 34-14 win over Southern California in the Rose Bowl in 1946 and a 13-0 loss to California in 1938.

Harlan Hodges Quits At Murray State for Post at U. of Idaho

Harlan Hodges has resigned as basketball coach at Murray, Ky., to become head coach at the University of Idaho. Hodges is completing his sixth year at Murray.

Hodges coached at Carrier Mills and West Frankfort high schools and was at Southern Illinois university in 1947-48.

He enjoyed successful seasons at Murray and won the Ohio Valley conference championship in 1951.

This past year was his least successful with a 15-16 record. His team included nine freshmen and sophomores on the first twelve, which would indicate Hodges was building well for the future.

The highly mechanized U. S. bituminous coal industry is looked upon as a model of efficiency by mining men in all parts of the world.

Canadian Pro Grid Games to Compete With College TV

OTTAWA — Canadian professional football will compete with the colorful United States college game this fall for the Saturday afternoon television attention of Americans.

The National Broadcasting Company will reach north of the border for football fare to match the college games awarded to the American Broadcasting Company by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

An agreement reached here Monday calls for the publicly-owned Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to shoot 13 games of the Eastern Canadian Big Four League and pipe them to NBC at Buffalo, N. Y., by microwave. NBC, providing its own commentary, will carry the games live on a national basis. It will be the first time Canadian football has received regular coverage in the United States.

The Big Four teams are the Montreal Alouettes, the Ottawa Rough Riders, the Toronto Argonauts and the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, last year's national champions.

All the cities are in the eastern time zone, which means the telecasts will be on the air at approximately the same time as many U. S. college games are played.

Marion Beats Equality, 14-4, in Subdistrict Play

Marion yesterday eliminated Equality, 14 to 4, and Carrier Mills today plays Golconda in the Harrisburg subdistrict prep baseball tournament.

The Marion crew will meet today's winner here Thursday afternoon for the subdistrict championship and the right to meet the Norris City winner at Norris City for the championship of the district, probably Saturday.

Yesterday's tilt, played at the town park, was a six-inning affair. It was set up for seven, but high school regulations say that if a team is 10 runs ahead at the end of the fifth or later, the game shall be called.

Coach Willis of Equality used Frohock and Kaufman on the mound and King went all the way for Marion.

It was a loosely played game, with numerous errors by both sides, but Marion got nine hits and Equality but three; so the Williamson county boys were driving in the runs with men on base.

Both teams scored once in the second inning but Marion scored three in the third to lead 4-1. Then in the fifth five Marion runs came across the plate to make the lead 9-3. Equality came back with two in the fifth to one for Marion and the score was 10 to 4.

In the last of the sixth, however, Marion was still batting when four runs crossed the plate and the game was over, 14 to 4.

Looking AT Sports

Last week this column used the baseball quiz and we trust many of the readers of The Daily Register sports page found the quiz interesting. Today we are running the second of the quizzes.

So you think you know your baseball? Try these brain teasers from The Sporting News as a real test. Score yourself (the answers can be found in this column Wednesday) and if you can truthfully say your point total is over twenty-five, send along a postcard to the national baseball weekly at St. Louis and they'll mail you a copy of The Sporting News. Fair enough — let's go!

1. On November 17, 1947, the St. Louis Browns traded Vern Stephens and Jack Kramer to the Boston Red Sox for seven players and $310,000. What players are in the majors today? You score two points for every correct answer, deduct one point for every wrong answer.

2. Four one-hit games were pitched in the first three weeks of 1954 in the majors. You score three points for every correct answer in naming the man who made the only hit in the game.

April 19, McDonald, Yanks vs. Red Sox.
April 29, Roberts, Phils vs. Braves.
April 20, Kellner, Athletics vs. Nats.
May 1, Trucks, White Sox vs. Red Sox.

3. Here are some major league bonus players. You score one point for every correct answer on their playing position, and one point for naming their team.

() Al Kaline () Frank Leja () Tom Quatter () Mel Roach () John Schofield.

4. Which of the following pitchers pitched a no-hit game in 1953. You get two points for every correct answer — deduct one point for every wrong answer.

() Al Ford () Warren Spahn () Alva Holloman () Bob Kuzava () Sal Maglie.

5. What club scored the most runs in one inning in modern day baseball? Score 10 points for a correct first choice, five for second, three for third and one for fourth pick.

() Yankees () Dodgers () Indians () Cubs () Phillies.

6. What player holds the National League record for most consecutive games played? Score yourself as you did on the previous question.

() Rogers Hornsby () Clyde Barnhart () Mel Ott () Gus Suhr () Stan Hack.

Jesse Watkins, the Mounds Douglass speedster who copped first in the mile run at the district track meet last Friday night, is also a top notch half miler. In fact many think the half mile is his best event. However, he ran in the mile at Hurst-Bush earlier this spring and trailed Bob Pitchers, defending state champ miler, by about half a stride. Watkins thinks he can beat Pitchers if they meet again and entered the mile in the district hoping he would qualify for the state—thus meeting Pitchers again.

Track got quite a boost in these parts this spring. Harrisburg, Eldorado and Carrier Mills entered almost full squads in the district and Equality was represented by a good sized group.

Eldorado has entered full teams most every year in the past—but for the past few seasons HTHS has been represented only by a select few, those athletes that were almost sure to take a first place and Carrier Mills hadn't entered track in a big way for many years.

Friday night the colors of the four schools were very much in evidence and the boys were having a grand time. A few placed in the point-winning groups, many didn't, but all seemed to be enjoying it and getting valuable experience for meets to come. And several of them should be going back next year.

Eldorado's 880-yard relay team, first place winner, had two seniors and two underclassmen and Harrisburg's fourth place finisher was all underclassmen. Eldorado's second place male athletes team had three underclassmen and one senior. Coach Al Adams said he really had a six-man relay squad, a soph, three juniors and two seniors, and there was little or no difference in their ability, so he can look forward to next year and see good things. One of the juniors, Barrett, didn't run last Friday as he had been ill all week with the mumps.

Pitchers to Defend Mile Run Title At State Track Meet

Bob Pitchers of Virden, who won the mile run at the state meet last year representing Equality high school, will be back at the U. of I. this week end to defend his title.

Pitchers won the right to go up-state again by taking the mile in the Taylorville district last Friday, but his time was far from his district winning effort of 1953.

He was timed at 4:48.4 in winning the district at Taylorville last week. Compare this with his record breaking 4:26.5 at Carbondale last year and then in the state meet, on a rain soaked track, Pitchers galloped home in front in the good time of 4:32.1.

Indians Win Third Straight from Yankees

By CARL LUNDQUIST

It was difficult, even in the face of their third straight victory over the world champions, to work up enthusiasm for the Cleveland Indians as pennant successors to the Yankees.

True, they dropped their first seven games to the Yankees last year, and there was no discounting the fine relief pitching of rookie Don Mossi in Monday night's mad 8-7 triumph after starter Bob Lemon was derickled.

But there was more to the game than the spectacular eight-run first inning which Dave Philley highlighted with a grand slam home run as Cleveland belated starter Whitey Ford and his successor, Bob Kuzava.

The box score told a grimmer story—three errors and a passed ball on which Gil McDougald scored all the way from second because rookie Mossi failed to cover home plate as catcher Jim Hegan retrieved the ball. The Indians made only 7 hits, compared with 12 for the Yankees. And once again, Manager Al Lopez had to call on a starter, Mike Garcia, who is to go in Wednesday's series finale, for two innings of relief work.

Tempers Flare
The Yankees took a 3-0 lead in the first off Lemon on Phil Rizzuto's single and doubles by Irv Noren and Gene Woodling, interspersed with errors by Hegan and Bobby Avila.

Cleveland rebounded as Avila singled and Ford walked the next two and was replaced by Kuzava. Al Rosen's two-run singled preceded Philley's four-run homer and George Strickland's double, Hegan's triple and Avila's scoring fly completed the rally.

The Yanks peeked away, scoring two off Lemon on four hits and causing his removal in the third. McDougald's double and the Hegan passed ball plus Andy Carey's second homer in as many games made it 8-7 in the third. Thereafter Mossi and rookie Bob Grim battled scorelessly until Mossi walked two in the eighth and Garcia came on to protect the narrow margin.

Tempers flared in the thriller in which Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees, catcher Yogi Berra and Coach Frank Crosetti were banished and Cleveland pilot Al Bando almost suffered a similar fate from boss umpire Bill Summers.

Orioles Beat A's

In the only other scheduled major league game, the Orioles roared from behind with four runs in the ninth to defeat the Athletics, 7-6, handing rookie Bob Trice his second defeat in as many days in a relief role. Trice came on with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth to relieve Ed Bertschy. Gil Coan hit a single for one run, Dick Kryhoski followed with a two-run double and Sam Mele produced the winning run with a sacrifice fly. Howie Fox gained his first victory in a relief chore as Baltimore made it two wins in a row.

Fire Sweeps Hollywood TV Studios

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Damage was estimated at more than $100,000 today in a spectacular fire that swept through part of General Service Studios, where some of the nation's top television shows are filmed.

The three-alarm blaze destroyed a sound stage, shops and television sets Monday night before being brought under control by 10 fire companies. No injuries were reported.

Television star Ozzie Nelson, who was at the studio shooting scenes for the Ozzie and Harriet TV show, helped firemen pour water on the flames that threatened for a while to burn the entire studio.

Almost two-thirds of the 6,075,106 tons of bituminous coal produced in 1953 by the Hanna Coal Co. of Ohio was extracted by surface mining methods.

THE STORY: Strange tensions appear when Tom Dahlstrom brings Lenny, his bride, home to live with his mother. Lenny realizes that Mrs. Dahlstrom has dominated Tom and does not wish to relinquish her role as mistress of the farm where the Dahlstroms had lived so many years.

IV
Well, thought Elaine, if Mrs. Dahlstrom insisted upon talking about Elaine's parents, it was best they talk about her mother. There was one thing about Elaine's mother in which Mrs. Dahlstrom might approve.

"My mother," Elaine said slowly, "was Norwegian... just like you are."

Quick anger darkened those blue eyes before her. Elaine almost gasped in dismay. Too late she realized that her words could mean only one thing to Mrs. Dahlstrom. This young female whippersnapper was telling Signe Amundsen Dahlstrom that Norse blood entitled her without question to a place in the Dahlstrom home!

There was a commotion on the porch. Mrs. Dahlstrom stood up. "Here are the men. We can dish up the supper. Would you be so kind as to slice some bread? You can use that blue plate with the Japanese picture on it. There, on the wall shelf." Her expression and tone was what Elaine thought to be normal again, but in her eyes glowed the embers of a banked fire.

Elaine couldn't woo back her feeling of tranquility, not even when Tom burst into the kitchen and, enveloping her with the admiration in his eyes, introduced her to Bill Steen, the hired man.

When they were all seated around the supper table, Mrs. Dahlstrom bowed her head to say grace. Although Elaine didn't understand the short Norwegian prayer, Mrs. Dahlstrom's genuine attitude of humbleness and thanksgiving gave majesty and dignity to the richly accented phrases. Elaine found herself breathing a prayer of thanks, too. For Tom and the good life they could have together.

Yet the disquiet remained inside her. She had no appetite for the food that Tom heaped on her plate. However, sensing that Mrs. Dahlstrom abhorred waste, she forced herself to swallow forkful after forkful that settled in her stomach as heavy as the old grindstone she had glimpsed leaning against the garage.

It was like a prisoner's reprieve when at last Mrs. Dahlstrom stood up. Quickly, Elaine arose also and began to stack the dishes. "Tom," she asked, jokingly, "are you going to help me do dishes?"

Out of the corner of her eye, she saw his mother's questioning glance. It was not one of wholehearted approval.

"That's what a husband is for, I suppose." He grinned and pushed back his chair. "Maybe Bill wants to get into the act, too."

"Not me," Bill exclaimed and started for the door opening into the dining room. "If marriage does that to a man, I'm sure glad I found out in time."

Mrs. Dahlstrom waited until Bill had left the kitchen before she said to Tom, "I never thought anyone could get you to do dishes." Her words were tinged with sarcasm.

It was good to put her hands in the hot soapy water. Everything was going to be all right, she told herself. It was fun doing dishes with Tom in their own home. Then, inevitably, dismay lashed through the thought. This wasn't their own home. It belonged to Tom's mother, Mrs. Dahlstrom. Mrs. Dahlstrom, the unapproachable. Consciously and subconsciously, she couldn't think of her as anything but "Mrs. Dahlstrom."

And Tom had told his mother, "You're the boss."

The figures on the blue plate she held under the hot water faucet seemed to blur and darken into an indigo cloud. Fright crawled thru her. Was it an omen? A forewarning that there would always be a black cloud over their lives as long as they lived here?

She tried to shake off the feeling. Why, already Mrs. Dahlstrom had softened a little. She smiled up at Tom and held out the plate for him to take.

"Tom," Mrs. Dahlstrom called from the living room. "You'd better hurry out there. You must get cleaned up. I have invited Astrid Nelson over tonight."

The words whipped out at Elaine. She felt her smile petrify. Then she heard the sound of breaking china. Horrified, she stared down.

Immediately, Mrs. Dahlstrom was at her side.

"Oh, no!" she cried, "not my Japanese plate."

Stooping, she began to gather

Order Medical Care for Child Refused by Parents

CHICAGO (AP)—A judge ordered doctors to proceed with treatment today to save a limb, and possibly the life, of a girl whose parents refused to permit medical care on religious grounds.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beards, said at home that they would accept the court's order passively but believed God would intervene and cure their 5-year old daughter, Carolyn, before she undergoes surgery.

Family Court Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski acted Monday after physicians told him that unless the girl is given immediate care "she will lose her arm, and may lose her life."

The child was suffering a subcutaneous infection of her right arm and surgery may be necessary, according to doctors at Michael Reese hospital.

Carolyn's parents vigorously protested the judge's action and prayed for a "miracle." Both are members of the Church of God.
